AN OLD COMPOSITOR'S PLAIN.

I hear the roar and rattle of the linotype machine,
And watch the nimble fingers of the operator keen,
As he sweeps the sentient keys.
With unerring skill and ease;
But I miss the merry music of the click,
click, click,
When the minion used to muster in the old-time stick.

I see the shining metal as it issues from its cell—
A slug of antimony that has learned to read and spell,
Oh, it may be very fine
As it leaps into the line, But it lacks the ringing rhythm of the
click, click, click,
When the letters danced together in the
old-time stick.

There was poetry of motion, there was dignity and grace
In the Gutenberg disciple as he stood before his case,
Building out of metal bits
All the wisdom of the wits, All the music of the masters—in the
click, click, click,
Of the types that used to gather in the
old-time stick.

I mark the mechanism of the Mergenthaler mill, Grinding language in its hopper with deliberate skill;
Turning out with measured speed Thoughts that he who runs may read; But its monotone is discord to the click,
click, click,
Of the merry metal midgets in the old-time stick.

To Mergenthaler's genius I will bow and doff my hat,
He has built a great automaton—a useful one, at that;
But its harsh and horrid noise Grates upon the printer boys, Whose fancies love to linger on the
click, click, click,
Of the music of the minion in the old-
time stick.

followed, one of the men drew a reof the victim's head.Judge Whitaker left the place, and the two men followed him to the street, but made no attempt to follow him further.Mr. Whitaker is a brother of the late visits to the place since then."I was in Cincinnati in 1858, and what a change I find here since then. I see there is a movement on foot to place a tablet on the site of old Ft. Washing-added interest in this movement from the fact that I used to be in a house located on that spot."Eczema Cured by B. B. B.—Sample Bottle

August Flower.

"It is a surprising fact," says Prof. Houten, "that in my travels in all parts of the world for the last ten years, I have met more people having used Green's August Flower than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach, and for constipation. I find far tourists and businessmen, or for persons filling office positions, where headaches and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist, that Green's August Flower is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use, and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion." Sample bottles free at J.

the Barrett Line of towboats and barges, recently purchased the large towboats of the Barrett Line to name all, or nearly all, its floating property after members of the Barrett family. Accordingly Captain Barrett has made application to the
